Please join the South Atlantic Chapter of Construction Management Association of America for our 2009/2010 Breakfast Meeting Series.

In October's program, we will be covering the recent activity related to the State of Georgia and region's water issues. The growth and development of our region has prospered because of the availability of natural resources. On July 17th, the U.S. District Court ruled to limit Georgia's access to Lake Lanier as a source of drinking water. This ruling is a threat to the region's water resources related to economic development.

Join us to hear about the following topics:

- Current issues related to the tri-state water dispute
- Implications related to real estate and development
- Economic impacts related to water management
- Regional leadership efforts to develop long-term solutions
- New water management policies
